Daniel Criss is an instructor at the Nova Scotia Community College in Truro in the Faculty of Health and Human Services. He previously worked for the Department of Justice.

Daniel has a Masters of Adult Education from Mount Saint Vincent University.

Daniel has a keen interest in mental health and justice issues and is a former board member with the Colchester East Hants Mental Health Association, and with Bridges Domestic Violence Program for Males. He is the former chair of the Hope Farm Society

Joan Keller is 35 years old and has spent most of her life in the Truro area. She loves animals and has a hobby farm with her boyfriend and her dog (who's so spoiled he thinks he's people).

Joan was a volunteer with the Truro Fire Brigade for ten years. Currently, she is on the board of the Colchester Anti-Poverty Network and is the chair of the Truro Homeless Outreach Society. Joan is also a member of the new mental health public advisory group.

Joan works as a support worker in two group homes, and previously worked in home care.

Dr. Kathleen Kevany is an Associate Professor at Dalhousie University's Faculty of Agriculture in Truro. Her work focuses on sustainable agriculture and community well-being.

Kathleen is an active volunteer in the Truro area. For a number of years, she was on the board of the Truro Farmers' Market. She has been involved with a number of environmental and community development organizations and has served on public committees with the Town of Truro.

Kathleen is the author of six books, previously an owner of a successful business, and an experienced candidate with the NDP in Ontario. Also, Kathleen is number 7 in a family of 10 siblings.

Todd White is an award-winning small business owner, and father of three young children ages six, two and a newborn brought into the world on November 6.

Active in the community, Todd serves as the Treasurer of the Truro Homeless Outreach Society, and as an advocate for mental health support. He is a big believer in equality and a strong supporter of the LGBTQ2SIA+ community.

Todd ran for Truro town council at the age of 22. Todd lives with his partner and children in Truro.
